

Top Reasons for Lying...

1. Did not want to make my partner angry
2. Did not want to make my partner worry
3. I was embarrassed of my financial situation
4. To hide money from my partner

62%

Couples with children argue about money the same amount as couples without children

Married couples argue about money more than unmarried couples

70% vs. 48%

We asked...
Have You
Lied
In Your Relationship
About Money?

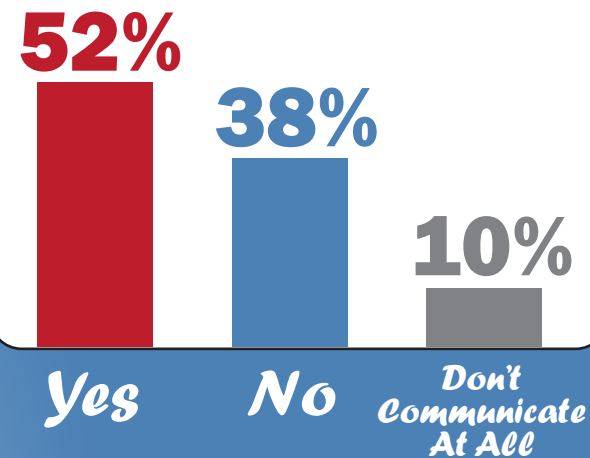

Trouble ahead?

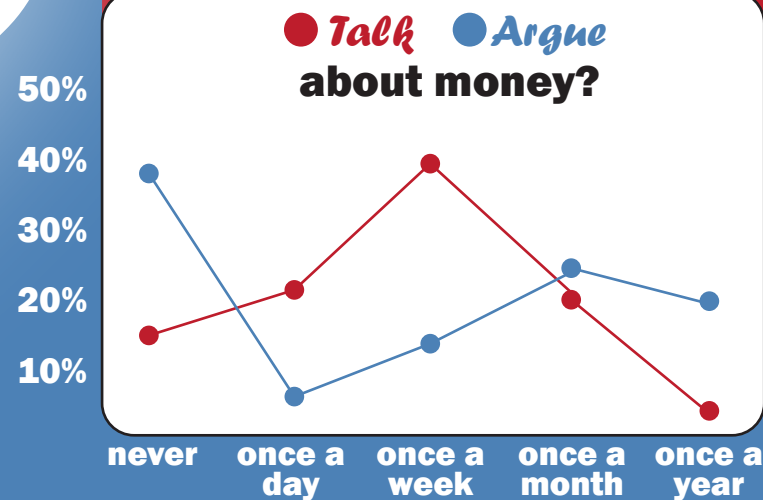

Arguments about money are found to be a top predictor for divorce, regardless of income, debt, or net worth

*2012 Study: Examining the Relationship Between Financial Issues and Divorce

Do you communicate well about financial issues with your partner?

How often do you...

Dealbreaker

37% of men & 55% of women would end a relationship if they discovered their partner was hiding a large amount of debt

*2013 CreditCard.com study